welcome

TO THE 2015 APD ANNUAL MEETING

On behalf of the APD Program Committee and Board of Directors, I welcome you to the 2015 Annual Meeting! Members are leaders in changing times and the Annual Meeting provides the opportunity to engage in national conversations regarding all aspects of academic medicine/dermatology.

This year's meeting will be special in many regards but what will stand out would be the presentation of the second annual APD Lowell Goldsmith named lectureship, presented by Dr. William L. Roper. Dr. Roper is Dean of the School of Medicine and Vice Chancellor for Medical Affairs at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill (UNC) and CEO of the UNC Health Care System. In addition, Dr. Roper holds the positions of Professor of Health Policy and Management at the School of Public Health, Professor of Pediatrics and of Social Medicine at the School of Medicine at University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Dr. Roper's presentation titled, "Health Care in America, Now and the Future", is one you don't want to miss.

The 2015 Annual Meeting prepared by the Program Committee, chaired by Susan Burgin, MD will kick off Friday morning with presentations related to faculty development. Friday afternoon's presentations include updates on resident education, an update from the ACGME, the Dermatology Teachers Exchange Group (DTEG) session and the Dermatologic Surgeons program. Saturday morning events include lectures by Dr. Thomas Lawley on Leadership, the Lowell Goldsmith Lectureship by Dr. Roper, and a presentation by Dr. Atul Grover from the AAMC on "Funding of Clinical Academic Departments in the World of ACOS and ACA". Saturday's afternoon program will include a plenary session on Chairs Leadership by Dr. Amy Paller, Resident Education at the Clinic by Dr. Joslyn Sciacca-Kirby, Resident Recruitment by Dr. Ponciano Cruz, and a review of the 6-Year Residency Program at Boston University by Dr. Rhoda Alani. The programming concludes with the Saturday afternoon concurrent sessions for Chairs, Program Directors Faculty, and Dermatologic Surgeons, all that promise to be outstanding.

Whether you are a Chair, Program Director or Coordinator, Faculty member or Administrator in a dermatology department or division, the 2015 APD Annual Meeting will provide you with the information you need to lead in academic dermatology. Each session has been thoughtfully organized to present you with tools and ideas you will be able to implement and share at your institution. I am sure the 2015 APD Annual Meeting will leave you with revitalized energy to engage in the growth of academic dermatology and to be part of the solutions to the issues common to our training and educational programs.

Welcome to Chicago and the 2015 APD Annual Meeting!

2015 APD GOLDSMITH LECTURER

William L. Roper, MD, MPH

Health Care In America,
Now and The Future

Saturday, September 25, 2015

William L. Roper, MD, MPH, Dean of the School of Medicine and Vice Chancellor for Medical Affairs at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill (UNC) and CEO of the UNC Health Care System since 2004. He also is Professor of Health Policy and Management in the School of Public Health, Professor of Pediatrics and of Social Medicine at the School of Medicine at University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

From 1997 until 2004, he was Dean of the School of Public Health at University of North Carolina. Before joining UNC in 1997, Dr. Roper was Senior Vice President of Prudential HealthCare. He joined Prudential in 1993 as President of the Prudential Center for Health Care Research.

Before coming to Prudential, Dr. Roper was Director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), served on the Senior White House staff, and was administrator of the Health Care Financing Administration (responsible for Medicare and Medicaid). Earlier, he was a White House Fellow.

He received his Medical Degree from the University of Alabama, School of Medicine, and his Master of Public Health degree from the University of Alabama at Birmingham School of Public Health. He completed his residency in pediatrics at the University of Colorado Medical Center.

Dr. Roper is a member of the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences and serves on the Institute of Medicine Governing Council. Currently, he is Vice Chairman of the Board of the Partnership for Prevention, Vice Chairman of the Board of the National Quality Forum, a Trustee of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, a member of the Board of Directors of the University of North Carolina Health Care System, and a member of the President's Commission on White House Fellowships. The author or co-author of more than 70 articles in publications such as the Journal of the American Medical Association and the New England Journal of Medicine, Roper has won numerous distinguished service awards from the U.S. Public Health Service, the Association for Health Services Research, the National Association of Health Data Organizations, Emory University, and the University of Alabama.

As CEO, Vice Chancellor, and Dean, Roper oversees an integrated health care system that includes a top-ranked public medical school and modern hospitals for children, women, neurological and psychiatric patients, and general adult patient care.

"TO PROMOTE MEDICAL EDUCATION, RESEARCH AND PATIENT CARE MISSIONS IN ACADEMIC MEDICAL CENTERS"
